1500 PERSONS HEAR OCHS AT PINE FORGE

Seventh Day Adventists
Listen to Mid-Day
Address

PURPOSE OF PRAYERS IS DISCUSSED AT CONFERENCE

Picture on Page 7

The purpose of prayer is not to bring God's will into line with human motives, but to bring those motives into harmony with His will.

That was the message 1500 Seventh Day Adventists of the Allegheny conference got at their noon meeting at Pine Forge yesterday. Elder D. A. Ochs, Washington, D. C., president of Columbia Union conference, was the mid-day speaker on the second day of the sixth annual conference.

The purpose of prayer is sometimes forgotten," he told the crowd in the big tent on the camp grounds. "It's purpose is not to change God's thoughts of us but to bring us near God—not to convince God but to change us."

HE SAID that most prayers are seeking after gifts without a real love for the Giver of all good gifts. "Our motive in prayer," he continued, "should be for our spiritual benefit, not a way of convincing others who may hear us how much we know."

"There should be a family altar in every home," Elder Ochs suggested, "where children can hear the voices of their parents raised in prayer."

He concluded his sermon by laying down four rules for prayer: 1. Prayer should serve a need. 2. It should not regard iniquity, that is, not have an evil intent. 3. It should have faith in a heavenly answer. 4. It should be done with love and forgiveness in the heart.

AT THE early devotional meeting yesterday, which took place at 6:30 a. m., the theme was "Deception Its Own Reward." Pastor James Thomas of Toledo, Ohio, was the speaker.

He illustrated his sermon with the story of Jacob and Esau.

"Jacob tasted the fruit of deception in his own marriage," Pastor Thomas said, "but when he gained the victory his name was changed to Israel."

He then turned to the Book of Revelation, in which St. John wrote that the children of God will be given new names.

"We shall be clothed with white raiment and presented to the Father," the speaker assured his listeners. "We shall sit with Him."

Five-year-old Patricia Graves, 1234 Maple street, was treated in Memorial hospital's dispensary yesterday for a cut of the scalp.

She suffered the injury in a backyard fall onto a big ashtray.

MAN RECEIVES PROBATION, FINE

Trappe Resident Penalized;
Judge Warns About
'Carrying On'

David Ellinger, 40, of 702 Main street, Trappe, who identified himself as a female impersonator, artist (painter) and antique dealer, was put on probation for 23 months yesterday for hitting a woman neighbor.

Ellinger also was ordered to pay $200 for the use of the county, and the costs of prosecution. The $200 penalty is a variation on an ordinary fine, which would have gone to the State.

Montgomery county Judge George C. Corson, who passed sentence, said that while the assault and battery charge against him wasn't particularly serious, the reports of strange carryings-on in his house that were brought out at his trial, were serious.

The judge told him, "If it's reported to this court that you have any female impersonators in the house, or are found to be carrying on."

FAR FROM 'DARK DAYS' Host of New Improvements Brightens Production Picture at Spicer Plant

Since the "dark days" the past Fall when a plant shutdown looked inevitable, a host of new improvements—including external remodeling—has brightened the production picture at Pottstown's Spicer plant.

"We have executed a complete about-face from those dark days," Morris R. Gavin, plant manager, said yesterday.

In recalling the Spicer close-down announcement the past Fall—a move that would have affected the lives of several thousand local residents—Gavin pointed out that the decision to keep the plant operating included the assertion that the Dana corporation would do everything possible to improve the production picture, including various phases of remodeling.

"For one thing," he said, "we promised to try to hold the employment figure above a floor of 800. In this we have been successful to date."

Employment at the plant has decreased by only 50 employees since the past October, he said.

"AND OUR sales department is trying hard to find new work so that we can keep our workers busy."

Probation

A 19-year-old Pottstown boy whose car killed a Doehler-Jarvis division worker on West High street the past Oct. 30 escaped a jail term yesterday because of his youth, because he faces a draft call and because he was convicted by a narrow margin.

William S. Embody Jr., 19, of 325 North Manatany street, was sentenced by Montgomery County Judge George C. Corson to pay $100 to the county, pay the costs and be put on probation for 23 months. He was sentenced for involuntary manslaughter.

Noting that Embody was 1-A with Pottstown's Local Board 118, Judge Corson added that the probation period would end as soon as he entered the Army.

The youth was the driver of a car that crashed head-on into a car driven by Theodore Masser, 48, Douglassville, late at night. Masser was killed instantly. Embody

2 Hurt as Fire Hits Warehouse

By PETE LAMANA
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Fire raged through the first floor of a Phoenixville warehouse for more than three hours last night, causing damage estimated above $100,000.

It took firemen from five communities to quell the blaze that gutted the main floor of a building occupied by a subsidiary of the Mohawk Carpet company, of Amsterdam, N.Y.

Fire Chief Leo J. Cosgrove, of Phoenixville, said the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion.

The structure, made of cement block with a wooden roof, is located on Morgan street in Phoenixville. It was used to store bales of jute for the manufacture of carpets.

Another part of the building, which was separated from the rest of the warehouse by a cement block wall, was not damaged.

Two injuries were reported by Fire Chief Cosgrove as firemen laid thousands of feet of hose to squelch the stubborn blaze.

INJURED were: John Dunyak of the Phoenixville Hook and Ladder, and Raymond Garber, of Roversford Humane Fire company.

Both men were driven to the Phoenixville hospital in the West End Fire company ambulance by: Clare Goheen, Second avenue, Phoenixville.

Dunyak was treated for a puncture wound of the foot which he received when he stepped on a nail, while Garber was treated at the hospital after being overcome by smoke.

Harold Lachman, of Parkerford, expeditor at the warehouse, said no one was in the building at the time of the fire. He pointed out that the last time anyone was in the building was the past July 1.

LACHMAN said the subsidiary company has been in the building for nearly four years. It was formerly occupied by the Hubbell Baking company.

He said the total loss would not be figured until a complete inventory is taken. He said that the damage figure should exceed the $100,000 mark.

Chief Cosgrove commented the fire apparently started in the northwestern end of the building at about 5 o'clock (Continued on Page Three)

Fair and Pleasant Seen for Weekend

Could it be that Fall is arriving so soon? Or has the weather prophet confused his seasons? Yesterday was supposed to be the 20th day of Summer. But a quick look at the weather chart would make one wonder if it was.

As the thermometer continued its methodical rise and fall it forgot itself yesterday and dipped to a low of 58 degrees by 6 a. m.

Although this low temperature reading was recorded locally, it will give an added boost to the weekend. The weather man is predicting a continuation of continued fair and pleasant weather.

An overall forecast throughout the eastern seaboard as far south as West Virginia and the Lower Potomac is similar to the local prediction.

Old Schuylkill Canal Spraying Underway; Will Continue Today

Planes bombarded the old Schuylkill canal yesterday and will continue operations around Pottstown today—weather permitting—in an effort to do away with the pesky mosquito and bug population.

Major Russell W. Gies, in charge of the operation that's being financed by the State Health department, said the plane started spraying yesterday about 5:30 a. m.

The aircraft flew from Pottstown westward, covering Birdsboro, Reading, Leesport and points west.

"We expect to finish tomorrow," he said last night. "We didn't quite finish the Norristown area, either," he stated, "because a heavy wind came up while we were working there."

Reunited After 41 Years

'Phone Call and Visit Span 41 Years For Pottstown Woman and Sister

By NORMAND POIRIER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Mrs. Blanche Grimley was busy doing her routine chores around the house on what started out as a routine evening at home.

Then the telephone rang. Mrs. Grimley picked up the receiver and listened while a voice read a telegram that contained the most fantastic message she had ever heard.

"I'll be seeing you tonight or tomorrow morning—Beulah"

Stunned, Mrs. Grimley sank into a chair.

"Beulah" was the name of her sister—a sister she hadn't heard anything about since 41 years ago.

Reunited in the Grimley living room at 1214 Queen street last night, the two sisters, beaming with excitement, started to catch up on almost a half-century's experiences.

The last time they saw each other—in New York city—Mrs. Blanche Grimley was 15 years old. Her sister, Mrs. Beulah Stavish, was 17.

That was in 1911. "I just couldn't believe it. I just couldn't," Mrs. Grimley said last night about the telephone call.

"I HAD wondered so many times—so many—about what had happened to Beulah and my other sister, Marguerite, and my brother Billy."

"We tried to find a trace of them many times. But we never got anywhere," she recalled, smiling

Peiping Radio Questions Ability of US To Make Rhee's Army Observe Truce

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, July 10 (AP)—Allied and Communist truce negotiators returned to the conference here today for another try at achieving an early armistice in the three year Korean war despite South Korean objections.

The meeting got under way promptly at 11 a. m. (10 p. m. Pottstown time Friday).

Like yesterday's session, it was executive, which meant that the results or even the topics discussed probably would not be made public.

But Red China's official Peiping radio in a broadcast heard in Tokyo laid out the issue. It said the armistice agreement would be a "paper" truce "unless the Americans take effective measures to ensure that . . . (President Syngman) Rhee's Army will observe the armistice agreement."

"IF THE KOREAN armistice does not include Rhee's government and army, hostilities in Korea will not cease even if the armistice agreement were signed by the delegates of the United Nations command," Peiping said.

"Rhee's government has repeatedly declared that once the armistice is signed, it will remove the South Korean Army from under the UN command and fight on alone."

The Communist radio reiterated three questions asked by the top Communist commanders in Korea in a June 19 letter to Gen. Mark Clark, UN Far East commander.

"Does the armistice include Rhee?" it asked. "If not, how is the armistice agreement to be implemented in South Korea? If Rhee is included in the armistice, then how to ensure that his army

CHINESE RETAIN TOEHOLDS ON TWO RIDGES

Heavy Artillery Fire Marks Five-Day Battles

SEOUL, Saturday, July 10 (AP)—Chinese Reds today held two small but firm toeholds on Porkchop hill and Arrowhead ridge, five days after they launched the latest of Korea's bloody hill battles with elements of two divisions 40 miles north of Seoul.

Although both sides were still throwing out tremendous artillery fires, the infantry action flickered down last evening and revealed a clearer view of the five-day twin battle.

On Porkchop, fighting against the US Seventh division, the Chinese won some deeply dug bunkers at the small end of the "Chop."

The Americans claimed 60 percent of the whole position, conceded 10 percent to the Chinese. The 30 percent area between was debated ground, too shell-swept for either side to hold.

On Arrowhead, six miles to the northeast and near Chorwon, the pattern was roughly similar. The Arrowhead position, held by the veteran Second South Korean division, has two tips instead of Porkchop's one. After five days the Reds have won the easternmost tip with the ROKS still holding all the rest.

Chinese commanders, faced with the certain loss of their small gains if the situation remains static, had a hard choice:

Either accept the essential failure of their costly, savage attacks or else throw in more men in an attempt to reinforce and expand their modest winnings.

Two Killed in Office Building Collapse; Fear Worker Buried in Wet Concrete

SCARSDALE, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—but remained at the scene several hours to aid in the rescue of 10 of his crew who survived. Hosts today killed at least two workers under tons of wet concrete and rubble, and injured 10 others.

Four hours afterward it was believed there might be one more body in the debris.

Hundreds of city employees and volunteer workers from the residential areas, aided by steamshovels and other machines, clawed through the wreckage as the night wore on.

The dead were identified as Lloyd Woodruff, the Bronx; Carmine Tedeschi, 22, the Bronx.

FOREMAN JOSEPH IOLI said a group of some 12 men in his crew were pouring concrete for the roof 30 feet square.

JOHN SCOTT, doorman at an apartment building across the street, said he was looking on when "a bunch of workmen just kind of fell from sight."

He said the collapse apparently carried to either the first floor or the basement.

The collapse occurred in an office building section of a large combination office apartment project.

The combined project covers about two blocks on the edge of Scarsdale's business section.

Immediately after the cave-in a heavy crane was thrown into play against the heavier pieces of debris, while workmen clawed with their hands and lighter tools at the wet concrete and other wreckage.

There were other workers on heavy parts of the roof, but it was believed there were few, if any, working below the collapsed area. Ioli himself was injured slightly.

Red Propaganda Machine Bitterly Tags Beria as 'Foul Enemy of Soviet'

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—The Kremlin's far-flung propaganda machinery bore down bitterly tonight with the tag "foul enemy of the Soviet people" for Lavrenty P. Beria, the ousted ex-purgemaster and No. 2 Soviet.

The job was to sell the Soviet satellite and captive millions in the uneasy Communist empire on the idea that he was indeed a traitor as charged.

Throughout the Soviet union—from the Asian maritime provinces to the restive European Ukraine—Red propagandists whipped up the attack on Beria through radio, newspapers and indignation mass meetings.

Moscow radio in foreign language broadcasts beamed accounts of "Beria's criminal anti-party and anti-state activities" to the straining East European countries. They had felt the lash of Beria's secret police system.

THE COMMUNIST party central committee's official Beria communiqué was reprinted in dozens of dialects in newspapers read by minority peoples of the Soviet Republics.

Moscow radio spoke of "enthusiasm and tempestuous prolonged applause" with which Russian mass meetings greeted the announcement of Beria's downfall.

The Kremlin sent Communist division, has two tips instead of Porkchop's one. After five days the Reds have won the easternmost tip with the ROKS still holding all the rest.

POLIO OUTBREAK SEEN CURBED BY NEW SERUM

Official Report Says Gamma Globulin Succeeds

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 10 (AP)—Weary doctors and worried parents un-crossed their fingers and rejoiced today over an official announcement that gamma globulin has curbed the polio outbreak in Montgomery.

State Health Officer D. G. Gill and the Montgomery county health officer Dr. A. H. Graham, returned their verdict a week after more than 31,000 children were inoculated with the polio-fighting serum.

It was the first time gamma globulin has been used anywhere on a wholesale basis to combat a near-epidemic of polio. The health officers waited a week before voicing their conclusion because it takes that long for the treatment to take effect.

"The mass immunization program of children nine years old and under has proven to be effective in reducing the number and severity of polio cases," the health authorities said in a joint statement.

"WE BELIEVE that, in line with the results of experiments in Houston, Tex., Sioux City, Iowa, and Provo, Utah, the next four weeks in Montgomery will show fewer cases, by possibly 80 percent."

And those that do show up probably will be lighter than they would have been without the arresting benefits of gamma globulin, the doctors predicted.

They added this hopeful observation: "Evidence right now is that everything looks awfully good. It looks as if gamma globulin has had the results for which we had hoped."

Only six polio cases have been reported in the county since the mass vaccination project started on June 30, and all of them have been light. In the 10 days before the whole inoculation began, there were 27 cases.

Of the six new cases, the doctors said, three of the victims had gamma globulin shots; the other three were over the age limit.

AMARILLO, Tex., July 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower flew into the heart of the Southwest drought region today, talked with the governors of six states, assured 3000 plain folks they'd get help and then sped back to Washington.

He spent only three hours and 47 minutes in Amarillo, leaving at 6:35 p. m. (Pottstown time).

Ranchers and farmers for miles around left their seared ranges and barren fields to sit in the heat of the Amarillo Municipal auditorium and cheer their President.

He told them that the full assets of the Federal Government would be mobilized to help them in their plea for aid because of long and bitter drought—the worst in southwest history.

HE DIDN'T mention cattle price supports which 500 cattlemen meeting in Dalhart, Tex., north of Amarillo, yesterday insisted they must have or go broke.

A governor said they talked about supports in the private session the President held with the governors.

Most of the cattlemen who trooped to the microphone after the President left said they wanted price supports. Others booed that idea.

The governors said it might take two or three days to work out their program of drought relief.

IN A TEN-minute appearance before a crowd which had come to tell six southwest governors their ideas for drought relief, the President promised: "And we will not dilly dally about it."

Senate Okays Sales Tax; Governor to Get Bill Monday

HARRISBURG, July 10 (AP)—proval Monday after it has been against the sales tax, charged that Senate Republicans mustered their full strength today and passed the House-approved 1 percent sales tax over solid Democratic opposition.

The vote of 32-18 ended a five-month deadlock over how to bridge the 118 million dollar gap in Gov. John S. Fine's $1,400,000,000 budget for the next two years.

During two hours of debate Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, promised that "the number one plank of our 1954 platform will be the immediate repeal of this obnoxious tax."

The Senate action was an anti-climax after the House passed the bill Wednesday by the margin of a single vote. The tax, which becomes effective Sept. 1, goes to the Governor for certain approval.

THE SALES TAX, exempting food, clothing and shoes, is estimated to yield 125 million dollars in the 1953-55 biennium. Ear-marked for education, the tax will become effective Sept. 1 and expire Sept. 1, 1955, unless renewed by the 1955 legislature.

A series of Democratic amendments were brushed aside by the confident Republican majority. They would have exempted farm, industrial and mining machinery as well as taxable items acquired by religious and charitable organizations.

The Democrats also sought to require a State-wide referendum before the levy could be increased from the 1 percent rate and to have the auditor general, rather than the revenue department, only the first few names on the audit the tax collections. They were shouted down by the Republicans.

DENT, IN HIS hour-long speech, after a test vote on a companion bill imposing the tax on items purchased outside the State, from the 1 percent rate and to the vote on the sales tax itself was a mere formality. The clerk called the alphabetical list before Sen. John M. Walker (R-Allegheny), presiding at the time, snatched away the roll call sheet and announced the 32-18 vote.

Dulles spoke out a few hours after summoning American Ambassador to Moscow, Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen, home for urgent consultation on the situation in Russia.

In his opening remarks, Dulles called on his British and French colleagues to "be alert to create, to find and seize every opportunity" arising from the dramatic developments within Russia.

"We meet at a time of great opportunity," he declared. "In East Berlin, East Germany and other satellite areas the people are moved by new hope."

"FREEDOM IS AGAIN in the air. Free elections is the slogan which now captures the imagination of the captive peoples."

Group Studies 2-County Building Code

Arthur S. Kepner, Pottstown town's building code would be building inspector, took part in a brought about by adoption of the conference of Montgomery and uniform code, Kepner said last Delaware county building officials night after a cursory examination on the establishing of a two-county uniform building code.

Representatives of about 60 boroughs and townships attended the meeting held at the Lower Merion township building, Ardmore.

Kepner reported that the officials were presented with a tentative building code for their study. The suggested code is the work of a committee which was set up for that purpose two years ago.

This code will be considered by the borough and township officials of the two counties. Their recommendations will be heard by the group at a meeting on Sept. 17 which will be held in the same place as this week's session.

NO DRASTIC changes in Pottstown action.

ADVENTISTS —

Christ on His throne, but we must first overcome sin."

ELDER J. H. Wagner, president of the Allegheny conference and chairman of the board of Pine Forge institute, was the principal speaker at night preaching service last night.

Adventists of the District of Columbia and seven states are attending the conference along with their families. More are expected to attend services at the Pine Forge camp over the weekend.

Elder Milton Thomas, Charleston, W. Va., spoke in the young people's tent at the early service yesterday. His topic was "Be Strong and of Good Courage."

"As John on the isle of Patmos, held on, fired by the spirit of truth, the youth of God will need courage to hold up the standard of truth in a world of sin," he said.

SPEAKER at the evening service on Thursday night was Elder G. E. Peters, retired field secretary of the General Conference.

"Set Your House in Order," was his topic.

"I know that life is sweet," he said. "Life is a blessing, but your life must be lived for God."

"We are nearing home, friends—you can't afford to be left outside," he concluded.

Sabbath observances will be held today, beginning with devotions at 6:30 o'clock this morning.

Elder B. Reynolds, Nashville, Tenn., editor of The Message, will speak in the big tent at the early service, while Elder L. W. Brantley, manager of the Pine Forge book and Bible house, will speak at the same time in the young people's tent.

SABBATH school will be held in the three larger tents at 9:15 a. m. It will be followed at 11 a. m. with preaching in the big tent by C. E. Mosely, Washington, D. C. field secretary of the General Conference.

Elder Reynolds will speak to the young people at 11 a. m.

Pine Forge institute hour will take place at 3:30 in the big tent and tomorrow night two pictures, "Dawn Over Africa" and "Christian Education," will be shown in the big tent.

Tomorrow Elder H. D. Warner, publishing department secretary at Pine Forge institute, will speak at 6:30 a. m. in the big tent, and Elder W. E. Read, Washington, D. C., will speak at 8:45 a. m.

AT 10 A. M. Elder Kenneth Wood of the Columbia conference will speak and at 11:30 a. m. L. W. Robinson, Sabbath school secretary of the institute, will speak.

Elder Read will speak again at 2:30 p. m. and Elder W. A. Thompson, Washington, D. C., will speak at 7:30 p. m. both in the big tent.

Young people's meetings in their own tent tomorrow will include messages by the following speakers:

Elder R. W. Newman, Pine Forge institute Bible instructor, 6:30 a. m.; Dr. C. E. Dent, Nashville, Tenn. physician, on healthful living, 11:30 a. m.; and Dr. Eva B. Dykes, Huntsville, Ala. college English professor, 7:30 p. m.

GI's Stored Auto Burns in Garage

There will be one less happy serviceman in Pottstown when he returns from his tour of duty.

The Philadelphia Steam Fire company received a call at 7:50 o'clock last night to extinguish a fire in a garage on the Pottstown Abattoir property at 19 East Third street.

Firemen reported they found a car jacked up on some blocks afire in a garage, but before the fire was put out considerable damage was caused to the vehicle.

They later found out that the car belonged to a serviceman, William Levan.

Two Cars Damaged In Morning Mishap

Two cars were damaged when one of them pulled from a parking space on King street west of Hanover street yesterday morning at 8:50 o'clock.

William Keim, Pottstown Star Route, told Motor Patrolman Earl J. Rhoads, he thought the coast was clear when he pulled from the south curb to go east.

He'd overlooked the eastbound car driven by William E. Bechtel, 939 Glasgow street. Keim's car had damage to its left fog light, headlight and left front fender. Bechtel's car had its right front fender and right side damaged.

US Polluting Allegheny, Sportsmen's League Says

PITTSBURGH, July 10 (AP)—The Allegheny County Sportsmen's League charged today that the Federal Government is responsible for pollution in the Allegheny river which has killed thousands of game fish in the past few days.

The League declared deadly acid is coming from flood control dams on tributaries of the Kiskiminetas river. A spokesman said the pollution is carried in water released from dams on Loyalhanna creek and the Conemaugh river and urged that the Government release water from these dams at a more "opportune time."

Mrs. Baus said the objects were dropped in batches of from about 75 to 100. She had no explanation to offer of what they might have been.

The condition upon which God hath given liberty to man is eternal vigilance.—John Philpot Curran.

Spicer's Flower Blooms

ONE day last Fall the Keim street shades were a little bit longer than usual. The Dana corporation had decided that because of adverse economic conditions it would move its sprawling Spicer plant out of Pottstown.

And that would mean that thousands of people, dependent on Spicer pay envelopes for their living, would have to look elsewhere
for the wherewithal for sustenance.

With so many thrown out of work, it would be most difficult for many, especially the older ones, to find new jobs.

But a mythical organization was formed,
the LKSP Club, composed of persons dedicated to let's keep Spicer in Pottstown.
They got together, discussed the plant's problems with management and labor. Out of it all there came a workable plan for keeping Spicer here intact.

Yesterday Spicer management released
a "progress" report with some quotes from Plant Manager Morris R. Gavin. "He paints
a picture that is as different as day from night as the picture painted last Fall.

"We have executed a complete about-face from those dark days when plant shutdown was imminent, and we remain
very optimistic about the future of Pottstown. . . . We promised to hold our employment figure above a floor of 800, and in this to date we have been successful."

It is joyous tidings to learn that Dana's faith in Pottstown has been vindicated. That continued operation of the Spicer plant is assured.

Management, labor and other factions
which have combined their talents and ingenuity to perpetuate Spicer operation in Pottstown merit congratulations from a grateful community on a not-too easy job
well done.

The Best for Robert Amole

ROBERT K. Amole, Army veteran gored by a bull and as a result paralyzed from waist to toes, lies in a Cleveland veterans hospital this morning ready to receive the finest treatment modern science can possibly offer.

The Cedarville lad, only 24 years old at an age when most youth are in the prime of existence, can face the future with confidence even though he is maimed and stricken pathetically. A fast ambulance with an experienced crew speeding over a multi-million-dollar turnpike to a fabulously modern hospital provides the great ray of hope and casts a light that not so many years ago
would have been extinguished long since.

Too much praise cannot be meted out to Merritt S. Wien, service officer for the Pottstown post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars,
for his untiring efforts to have Mr. Amole admitted to the Cleveland hospital. Because the injury was non-service inflicted, the odds against admission were great, but Mr. Wien never gave up and finally achieved his noble purpose.

Bob Amole is a long way from home. But his friends and neighbors are with him constantly with their prayers and hopes for a speedy and full recovery and an early return to his Cedarville home.

Bonanza for Cupid

IT MAY surprise many people to learn that so many Americans are marrying early that the proportion of young couples is the highest in modern times. The opposite might be expected in an era of increasing education and fewer responsibilities for youth.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. statisticians report that 17 percent of 15 to 19-year-old girls are wives as compared with 12 percent in 1940. In ages 20 to 24, the percentage is 69 to 53 in 1940. Today nearly half of the 20 to 24-year-old men are or have been married, as against 28 percent 15 years ago.

The statisticians credit the increase in early marriages to "favorable economic conditions and the relative freedom with which boys and girls mix socially." Economic conditions are probably the major factor.
Boys and girls have been mixing pretty freely for three decades now—remember the gay '20's?

But it is only recently that a boy can be besieged by employers on graduating from college or find it fairly easy to command
good wages on leaving high school. An economic factor that should not be overlooked
is that this is also relatively true of the girl.

A great many of today's young marriages are founded on a man and wife working in this town? Cupid has it good now. It may bring him trouble later.

Early Legislators Knew Their Stuff

Early Lawmen Okay

To the Editor: After reading your article on "the ghosts of borough hall,"
I couldn't help wonder about the sincerity and the progressiveness of those individuals.

In comparison to the borough fathers of today, those men must have been geniuses. I guess, though, they probably felt that the responsibility of holding public office was something to be worthy of and not just a job through which one could work the angles.

It wasn't a bad idea in those days to abolish swimming in the Manatawny
and Schuylkill, nor do I think it a bad idea to do the same thing these days.

We can sit back now and chuckle a little at some of the legislation passed in those days, but it is a lot more serious
when you think of what little is accomplished today.

Pottstown READER

Points Out Lesson

To the Editor: You are right: "It might have been mine, if I had a son."

Regarding your editorial of July 9,
I shudder every time I think of the incident. Seems to me that boys their age should have had more sense than to go shooting at each other even though it was just in fun.

Again, like the swimming incident in the Manatawny not too long ago, this tragic event must be used as an example to warn against further happenings of this sort. Why?

When something like this happens,

WASHINGTON

Congress Is Reluctant To Accept Truce Terms

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, July 10—The most powerful leaders on Capitol Hill have served sharp notice on the "Big Three"
diplomats meeting here today that they will be wasting their time, if they make any definite decisions or plans with regard to the East-West conflict that contemplate a friendly settlement with Communist Russia or China.

While not seeking to sabotage the "Little Bermuda Conference," prominent Republican and Democratic spokesmen have set definite limits on its scope.

They have warned that they will use their power over the American government's purse strings to block
any action which, in their opinion,
jeopardizes this country's interests.

Although it is not generally recognized, the seemingly concerted blast against Anglo-French policies of "appeasement" of the Reds constitutes the most serious attempt made by Congress to interfere with President Eisenhower's exclusive conduct of foreign affairs. It exceeds in audacity Senator Joseph R.
McCarthy's various adventures and escapades in this field.

PURPOSE OF ANGLO-FRENCH SCHEME:

The British and French representatives — Lord Salisbury and Georges Bidault—have come to Washington with two principal objectives.
The first is to persuade Ike to try to reach a peaceful agreement with Moscow on European problems.

The second is to find a way for ending the wars in Korea and Indo China,
which are extremely unpopular in Brittain and France.

The underlying purpose behind
the Anglo-French scheme is to eliminate the need for building a vast and expensive European military naval and air force under American auspices.

As Churchill contends, the Kremlin's post-Stalin peace offers seem genuine enough to deserve consideration.
The Prime Minister and Bidault also feel that the recent anti-Communist outbreaks give the West new and greater bargaining power.

IKE WANTS PROOF OF GOOD IN-TENTIONS:

The skeptical Eisenhower
does not share this viewpoint, and demands more concrete evidence of Malenkov's good intentions. Likewise, he believes that signs of stress inside the Communist Empire counsel a delay in negotiation. He is as insistent as ever that Western Europe proceed with its rearmament program even more rapidly.

However, lest the President and Secretary Dulles be persuaded to retreat on these points, the bipartisan Congressional bloc has notified him and the foreign delegation that it will not go along on such a program. In addition to withholding necessary appropriations,
it will not ratify any executive pact designed to undermine a weakening of American policy.

Although willing to accept the proposed truce terms in Korea for humanitarian reasons, a majority in both Congressional chambers are dejected over such an outcome.
Many have a secret sympathy, and admiration for Syngman Rhee's insistence on reunification of all Korea
by force, if necessary.

In short, while the European visitors propose peace and reconciliation with the Reds, the American Congress informs the President that it wants no letup in the cold war, now that the United States seems to be winning.

Lauds Stand

To the Editor: The courage and de-

in waging an unrelenting campaign against any extension of the excess profits tax law should earn him the re-

it will produce is anything but a statesmanlike approach to the deficit

Disturbs His Sleep

To the Editor: Isn't there some sort of ruling to prevent persons with noisy motorcycle attachments from using them after 10 o'clock at night?

I have to work hard and pay dearly
just to enjoy the necessities in my life.
Therefore, a good night's sleep is a means of enjoying life to sleep.

Yet this is almost becoming an impossibility since there is an idiot who thinks that after 10 p. m. is an ideal time for his motorcycle riding (11:30
and 12 to be exact).

Tyrone Power and his Linda have their friends guessing about their plans for the future. They've leased a large villa on the outskirts of Rome—purpose to establish a permanent residence in Italy.

Ty has become a member of the board of directors of a new Italian film company scheduled to begin producing pictures in the Italian capital next March. At any rate, the total picture seems to rule out any possibility of a split between the oft-rumored "divorcing" Powers.

Gussie (Lace Pants) Moran suddenly looks different to everybody. The Stork

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

KARIN T. is a German journalism student who was at Northwestern the past year.

She is a friend of our daughter Judy.
During one of the holiday vacations,
Judy invited her to visit with us, since we were driving down to the farm in Indiana, and Karin wanted to see American home life.

We enjoyed Karin very much, and I think she relished her country experiences, too.

For Judy and Danny and David took her on hikes. They fell in the creek or pushed each other in, for I never did get a straight story about this episode.

We also had a big family dinner with 37 people present. And Mrs. Crane was the chief worker in all the dinner preparation.

SO WHEN WE WERE heading back to Chicago, I asked Karin what had impressed her most about her year in America.

"Well, it may seem odd to you," Karin replied, "but we have developed in Europe the notion that Americans
don't need to work."

"We have been led to believe that all you do over here is push buttons and machines then perform all your tasks
for you."

"But when I saw Mrs. Crane preparing the turkey dinner and found that she got up at 5 o'clock in the morning to put the turkey in the oven and bake the pumpkin pies, I realized that it still takes more than 'buttons.'"

"So the most important impression I have received from my visit to America is the realization that despite all your modern gadgets and wonderful machinery, you still must work."

OUR WONDERFUL MODERN age
of science has certainly added novelty and variety to life.

Machines have often eliminated much
back-breaking toil and especially heavy lifting.

For example, a woman can now handle every farm problem by means of mechanical tractors, plows, combines and trucks.

But the person who sits on that tractor
all day long still gets his insides almost jolted to pieces.

And "elbow grease" is still required
to drive or steer or operate all of our machinery.

So Americans, as well as other people of the earth, will always be required to put in many hours of hard work, though it may be of a different type than lifting a shovel or swinging an axe.

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, July 10 — 20th-
Fox signed N. Y. stage actor, Don Magowan to play Sir Lancelot in "Prince Valiant" with Bob Wagner, Janet Leigh and James Mason. Unusual

is the fact that Magowan was given the role
without a screen
test or even a reading. Slightly
"unusual" too.

Don. He stands
six feet, six and a half inches
high. . . . Betty Grable and Harry

this week.

Don't faint from surprise if Rosie Clooney, visiting Jose Ferrer in Texas, comes home
as his new Mrs. . . . Howard Hughes wants Sally Forrest for the femme lead in "The Big Rainbow," soon to shoot at RKO. He's trying to buy up Sally's play-commitment that's supposed to take her to Bway in two weeks.

WE HAVE A missive from composer Vernon Duke in Denmark. Sez he, "The Danes are mad at Frank Loesser because in his 'Hans Christian Andersen' score he calls Copenhagen
'Copenhagaagen' and because he thinks Wilhemina is a Danish name. It's German."

The Ed Gardeners are telling European pals that despite Ed's loss of $150,000 on a movie he produced the past year, he'll come to Hollywood this Fall
and make his "Duffy's Tavern"
into a filmed TV series. Ed and Simone join up with the contingent from Filmville, for the Hilton hotel opening in Madrid, Spain pronto. . . . Gabbed long-distance with Anita Colby, who pooh-poohs those rumors she'll wed broker, Jerry Gordon, but admits he's a likable long-time date.

JOAN CAULFIELD, Frank Ross
and Hal Stanley (Kay Starr's ex)
are back from a frantic few days at Lake Tahoe. Joan's earful to us including description of a real crazy "picnic." is a killer. Says all three had pulchery fun! Frank's picture, "The Gladiators" (formerly "The Story of Demetrius") finished this week. Its star, Vic Mature is "expanding" his application shop to give 24 hour radio and video repair service-guaranteed!

It Doesn't Make Sense Dept:—
Esperanza Wayne, who waited $900
a month wasn't enough for her to subsist on, hiring detectives to "get the goods" on John's romantic domains, if any. Since they're separated, what good would "the goods" do her in court, even if she got 'em? Mrs. W's big car was recently grabbed for non-payment of a grocery bill. Though claiming her "temporary alimony" is too meager for her life's essentials, we hear "Chata" is hiring a press-agent! It would take more than one publicity man to build up
the good will she's lost hereabouts!

WOOL RAISERS—The raising of wool is becoming an important industry in this section. One hundred and fifty Bucks and Montgomery counties farmers have sold 14,900 pounds of wool through their co-operative. There are 83 farmers in this section with flocks of sheep.

Too Old For Cast . . .
Seeders in Japan . . .

★ BROKEN APPLE TREE—Joan
Bruner, secretary to Dr. James A.
Griffiths, X-ray chief at Memorial hospital, had a good medical suggestion to make when one side of a huge, old Y-shaped apple tree on the rear lawn of the hospital was blown down by the wind in Wednesday night's storm. To Frank Horvath, X-ray technician who was using a few spare moments to lop little limbs from the big split trunk, she said, "Why don't you put it in a cast?"
Nobody wanted to hazard a guess as to how old the graceful tree was, but there seemed to be general agreement it was one of the oldest apple trees in Pottstown. Nicholas Yanos, hospital maintenance man, directed amputation and dissection of the broken part of the tree.

TAKING IT EASY—Joseph R. Whitacre, 1646 Queen street, prominent Elk and auto peddler, who was felled by a heart attack two weeks ago, is coming along nicely, friends report, but he'll be confined to his home "just taking it easy and resting" for at least the rest of the month.

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF—Jerry Seeders,

former Pottstown high and U. of P. basketball luminary and ex-basketball coach at Ursinus college, now is chief pen wielder for an Army newspaper at Camp Drake, near Tokyo. In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Paul Seeders, Maple Manor apartment, Gerry said, "I have been given the duty assignments of special service officer,
public information officer and safety officer. Nicest part is I walked into this post and received these assignments
as a new man on the job." Seeders, who has the rank of captain, is hopeful
his wife Bea and children Toshia and Ty,
who are residing in California, can join him soon.

LAUGH OF THE WEEK: The high-

pressure business executive buzzed the buzzer which called his secretary, "Miss

plied. "Come, come," he snapped, "You know I'm a busy man—which ear?"

IN WINDY CITY—Dr. and Mrs. Charles

Lichtenwalner Jr., 1480 Sunset drive, arrived in Chicago yesterday for the annual convention of the auxiliary of the American Osteopathic association.
They plan to be gone a week. Mrs.
Lichtenwalner is editor of the association's magazine, the A. O. A. Record.
More than 1000 women are expected to attend the proceedings, which will be highlighted by a tea on Monday. . . . The "Safemobile," newest technique for delivering a safety message to railroad workmen on the job will roll into the Pennsylvania yards in Pottstown next Friday morning. Other stops planned are Norristown, Phoenixville and Reading.

REPEATING MAGNOLIA—Mrs. A.

Star Trolinger, 577 Jefferson avenue,
has a magnolia tree that bloomed in the Spring and now has broken out in bloom again. Mrs. Trolinger said she's heard of magnolias that bloomed a second time in the Fall but not in the Summer.
She said these second flowers are almost as big as the first ones. . . . Another unusual Southern plant doing well up North here is the big gardenia plant of Mrs. Horace Walt, Roversford RD 1, near Limerick. Kept in the cellar in the Winter, the plant has been doing fine in our recent Dixie-like climate. It now has more than 40 blooms and nearly 100 buds.

"Now let's try it around on the other side again. I want to be sure where it will look best when it gets big."

Usually, persons who have stones in this duct have a history of jaundice and have had severe cases of gall bladder colic. As many as 10 to 15 percent of the persons having gallstones also have common bile duct stones. This can be remedied by cleaning out this duct at the time of surgery.

Many times the gall bladder is not completely removed at the time of surgery, and even the smallest remnant which may be left in the abdomen can produce the symptoms that were present before surgery was performed.

Adhesions, of course, may form with any operation and also may be the cause
for discomfort following a gall bladder operation. However, in most instances, it is best not to operate again to remove them, because they only reform as often as they are cut.

Many diseases of the liver and smaller bile duct can resemble gall bladder disease. However, when definite gall bladder disease is present,
the best treatment is usually the surgical removal of the disease gall bladder in its entirety.

Boyertown Youth Retains Table Tennis Crown For Second Year

Randall Berk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Berk, 228 East Philadelphia avenue, Boyertown retained his crown as table tennis tournament champion for the second year in a row yesterday afternoon by overpowering the contender for the crown, Earl Gunther. Randall's scores over Gunther were 23-21, 21-23 and 21-13.

The tournament was conducted on the Boyertown playground at the Washington grade school grounds.

Before reaching the semi-finals to defend his title, Berk had to play his brother, Roger, whom he defeated by the close scores of 21-17, 12-21 and 21-13. Roger had reached the quarter finals by defeating Keith Gilbert, 21-17 and 21-9.

The tournament began the past Tuesday morning with 18 boys participating. Harry I. Gilbert, playground supervisor, was in charge.

Berk will now enter the Berks County tournament which will be conducted Wednesday at Reiffton. The county winner will be chosen by the greatest total number of points earned in all games played in the finals.

R. K. Mensch 'Good' At Borough Hospital; Has Leg Injury

The condition of Raymond K. Mensch, of Boyertown RD 1, was reported as "good" last night by Pottstown hospital attendants.

Mensch, a Democratic commissioner from Montgomery county, was admitted to the hospital Thursday at 4 p. m. for observation.

Mrs. Mensch said she does not know how long her husband will remain in the hospital.

Mrs. Mensch said her husband, a diabetic sufferer for several years, was injured slightly when he fell while visiting at Gilbertsville the past July 4.

IN THE DAYS that followed, Mensch complained that his leg was giving him some pain, and Thursday afternoon he was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Mensch said that it may be possible that his present leg ailment could have been affected by the fall.

Guest Speakers to Be Heard in Four Local Churches

Rev. Dr. Waltemyer, Gettysburg College, Among Area Visitors

Guest speakers, none of them strangers to Pottstown, will be heard in four local churches tomorrow.

At Emmanuel Lutheran the speaker will be the Rev. Dr. William C. Waltemyer Sr., professor of Bible at Gettysburg college.

Dr. Waltemyer is the father of Dr. William C. Waltemyer Jr., Pottstown surgeon.

The guest speaker will assist the Rev. Dr. Luther A. Krouse, pastor of Emmanuel church, at the two Holy Communion services there tomorrow morning.

He will also bring the message at the services—the first at 7:15 o'clock and the second at 10:45 o'clock.

Dr. Waltemyer has been at Gettysburg college for 24 years, where he now heads the department of Bible study.

BEFORE joining the college faculty he was pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran, Washington, D. C., for eight years.

A third Communion service will be held at Emmanuel church tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, with Dr. Krouse administering the sacrament alone.

The latter service is intended for the aged, the infirm and those not able to attend the morning services.

Another guest speaker tomorrow will be the Rev. George Held, Allentown, who will appear at the First Church of the Brethren for two evening meetings.

THE REV. HELD, who last spoke here about three years ago, is a missionary to the Jews, sponsored by the Friends of Israel mission board.

He will speak first at the 7 p. m. youth meeting, where he will also show colored picture slides to the young people.

His second message will be given at the evening worship service at 8 p. m., where he will tell of his work and of God's relationship with the Jews.

St. John's Lutheran, South Pottstown, will have as guest speaker tomorrow morning the Rev. Alton Wedde, pastor of St. James Lutheran, Limerick.

THE REV. Wedde will speak at the service at 10:45 a. m. in the absence of the Rev. George F. Eichorn, pastor, who is attending the State Luther league convention at Millersville.

The fourth guest speaker will be the Rev. Maurice E. Hoover, pastor of Searles Memorial Methodist, who will speak at 7:30 p. m. union vesper at First Methodist.

His topic at the service, in which the two Methodist churches and First Baptist will worship together, is "Freedom of Speech."

The service will be the sixth in a weekly series of eight Sunday night meetings in which the three churches are joining.

HARRISBURG, July 10.—The Senate Education committee today approved a proposal to impose fines on physicians and dentists who speed up school health examinations.

The 1945 School Health law provides that physicians examine four children an hour and dentists eight children an hour.

The committee sent to the floor a plan to fine physicians or dentists examining more than the limit $50 for the first offense and $100 for the second offense. School officials who assist or authorize the speed-up also would be subject to the penalty.

Bible Words to Live by

COLOSSIANS 2:5—"For though I be absent in the flesh, yet am I with you in spirit, joying and beholding your order, and the steadfastness of your faith in Christ."

This favorite verse tells us that no matter how widely separated we may be from those we love, nevertheless we can be confidently united to them in spiritual comradeship.

The apostle Paul wrote these affectionate lines in the middle of a deep theological discussion. See how personal they are, and then remember that they were penned in the cell of a jail in Rome.

Paul tells us that physical distance is no barrier to the comradeship of those who cherish spiritual truth and righteousness.

That means a great deal to those whose sons, husbands or lovers are at war-fronts far from home, as also to the bereaved.

Keeping our faith steadfast and in order assures us of this eternal fellowship.

BOROUGH MAN YMCA Day Camp GETS MUSIC JOB Closes Third Period

The third period day camp of the YMCA—there are five in all—came to a close yesterday with a camp fire program at French Creek State park.

Winner of the outstanding campership award was Richard King. Other award winners were: archery, Oliver Cornum; swimming, David Banyard; athletics, Jack Miller; nature, Clair Koehel; crafts, Terry Grow.

In charge of the two tribes during the week were Paul Feight and Leon Harbold, with Charles Fegley in charge of the overall program.

The fourth period of the YMCA day camp will start Monday at noon. In all, 37 boys took part in the third period.

While still a pupil at the High school, he organized the first school band.

Two years after his graduation, he entered West Chester Teachers college, where he received his Bachelor of Science degree in public school music.

He returned to Pottstown, and after serving as director of music in local schools for several years, entered the University of Pennsylvania.

He holds his master's degree and doctor's degree from that university and then graduated from the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia.

DR. WILSON at one time also led a well-known orchestra.

In 1944, he entered the Air Force and served in Africa as a cryptographer for two years.

For four years he taught in the school of education at the University of Pennsylvania until resuming his duties as head of the University of Richmond music department.

Dr. Wilson has one sister, Mrs. T. L. Sime, St. Paul, Minn.

He will assume his new duties on Sept. 8.

ALL ARE WELCOME—COME

HARVEST TIME...

When the harvest comes the farmer reaps his grain, threshes and stores it, and soon it is on its way to the markets of the world.

The girl pictured above, posing amid the wheat shocks, takes the mind back to the days of Ruth of the Bible when the maidens of Judea gleaned the fields and gathered the sheaves behind the reapers of Boaz.

But sowing and reaping are not confined to the earthly fields of the physical world. In our moral and spiritual relations we are constantly scattering seed and reaping the results of our sowing.

If we cultivate the field of the spirit, and sow good words, good deeds and good thoughts, we will have an abundant harvest of the fruits of the spirit—peace and joy, hope and faith and love.

Those who sow to the spirit will find the Church an invaluable helper and the Bible an infallible guide.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Christian community, we are a lost people. We are a democracy, not a mob. We are a people who every person should serve. They are (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of the Church. (3) For the sake of the community and nation. (4) For the sake of the world. (5) For the sake of the human race. Let us all serve the Church, the community and the world.

Use Spray or Dusting Compound To Keep Rose Foliage Healthy

The new leaves which roses keep producing must be kept free from disease and insects if one hopes to have perfect blooms. The leaves manufacture the food which keeps the plant healthy, thrifty and flowering.

To keep rose foliage healthy calls for the use of a number of spray or dusting compounds. To simplify the problem an "all purpose" rose dust is now available which gives one-shot protection.

There are three types of rose pests which attack the foliage, chewing insects, sucking insects, sucking insects and fungus disease. A commonly prevalent pest is the aphid.

Aphids, or plant lice, often cluster in great numbers on the tender, growing shoots of roses, as shown in the accompanying photograph. They suck the life juices from stems, leaves and buds.

Wheat Marketing Quotas Proclaimed

Wheat farmers of the Nation will have the opportunity to vote on marketing quotas for their 1954 crop, according to a proclamation issued by USDA.

"The Agriculture Act of 1938, as amended, requires the secretary of agriculture," explained Secretary Benson, stating that he had signed a proclamation, "to call for a farmer referendum on wheat quotas if, according to the latest statistics, the total supply of wheat on July 1 exceeds the normal supply by more than 20 percent."

"Our latest figures show that the total supply of wheat, either already in bins or in prospect of being harvested, totaled 1177 million bushels. This is the largest supply in the nation's history. It includes a carry-over of an estimated 580 million bushels and a prospective crop of 1132 million bushels."

According to estimates from our bureau of agricultural economics, the figure for our normal supply this year is 1,156,000,000. This means that our total supply exceeds our normal supply by 48 percent.

The secretary explained that two-thirds of the farmers voting in the referendum must approve quotas before they go into effect.

CATTLE TESTING URGED BY AGENT

Chester County Launches Brucellosis Control Program

Despite present interruptions, Chester county's Brucellosis Control program is steadily moving forward, according to County Agent Robert A. Powers.

Different aspects of the program were discussed at a meeting of the County Brucellosis committee recently in Powers' office in the courthouse annex, West Chester.

Farmers will be encouraged to sign up their herds for testing in the committee said, in order to "be ready" for testing when Federal indemnities may be resumed, or in the event farmers want to go ahead by waiving Federal indemnities for condemned cattle.

Township committees were authorized to explain the program to farmers, and to encourage them to sign testing agreements with the State Bureau of Animal Industry.

MORE THAN 400 county dairy herds already are tested on an individual plan, and in some sections not many additional farmers would need to sign to start testing on a township basis, it was stated.

Not all township committees were named in full. In some instances chairmen were designated and they were instructed to name the other members of their committees.

The county committee is working with an over-all State Brucellosis control committee that is working toward a goal of having all cattle signed up for testing by Jan. 1, 1955.

Use Orchard Rotation

A survey of fruit growers in major fruit sections showed that the most profitable crops are borne in the early life of an orchard when the trees are relatively young.

Carl Butner, Penn State extension fruit specialist, says many growers make new plantings regularly, and on good sites, in a careful plan to keep young trees advancing to replace older ones.

Goats Can Build Soil

Goats are both soil destroyers and top fertility builders, reports an article in the Organic Farmer.

In the Middle East, goats are allowed to forage free. Roving everywhere, they eat ever bit of vegetation, leaving the land bare to the blazing sun and torrential rains. With no plants to hold the soil, it erodes away and the land becomes desert.

But restrict goats and feed them well, and they will actually build up the soil. Goat manure according to some authorities, is one of the finest fertilizers known.

It not only improves soil structure and adds vital humus, but it contains certain elements that make it more valuable than the dung of other animals.

ALFALFA GAINS ON RIVALS-Alfalfa, the undisputed "Queen of Forage Crops" in the United States for several decades, strides ahead in both acreage and production in spite of stiff competition from new and improved legumes.

Gardening this Week

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

CHAPPAQUA N. Y. July 10 — Spring flowers — the daffodils and the tulips — are the most of light, glorious and wonderful things in the world, when they are blooming, but they certainly rain-bow with the early Summer garden.

My tulips have finally dried away from their bulbs and only a few, stubborn strands of daffodil foliage remain, thank goodness, because in spite of my best camouflaging efforts they really do make even my best garden beds look like an uncombed head of hair. If it didn't seem like a criminal waste, I'd like to dig and discard all bulbs after a single blooming but my Scotch ancestry prohibits.

The garden, generally, looks pretty good, but shows definitely the results of a prolonged hot spell when even simple hand weeding was too much. I managed to wind up the succession of gladiolus plantings so that I'll have late Fall blooms but not run into killing frosts, and I've plenty of young plants of the colorful annuals coming along to take the place of the ones I started early enough to obtain July bloom.

Meanwhile I'm concentrating primarily on the annual garden keeping chores which includes transplanting and separating the Oriental poppies.

I've marked the common, less attractive ones with labels so I can get rid of them, and noted the ones with particularly good color to be saved and spotted where they can do the most for the garden picture.

THE SEED BEDS with their fine rather sandy soil, are now occupied by newly planted seeds — perennials and biennials — for next year's flowers.

But with the hot Summer sun and the constant attentions of the insect world they take quite a beating. I've found that I get the best results in the portions which receive some shade at this time of the year, and have rigged up a little screening gadget with cheese cloth for spots which are too exposed.

Staking is a gardener's chore which is never done. If it isn't necessary to keep a leggy perennial from sprawling all over the place it's required to keep a tall slender annual from drooping and breaking under the weight of its bloom plus rain water.

I buy slender tough bamboo sticks of varying heights and use them season after season for the job, and have a wide variety of soft string, paper wrapped wire lengths and keep all of the staking equipment, which includes an old pair of shears in one spot for ready use.

This year I'm really working on a project of keeping plants within bounds. I'm pinching out axillary growths from the tomato vines to keep the plants on single stalks. I've faithfully pinched out the top growth of the chrysanthemums to make them bushy and not top-heavy.

I've pruned the roses all season with one eye on the reference book, and I've used the pruning shears a little more ruthlessly than my instincts dictated on the theory that I've always gone a little light on a necessary job.

So far we've had a mildly exciting Summer in the nature study department. I've kept the suet box filled with chopings from steaks even though on hot days it is a slightly messy area and it has been well patronized by an ever increasing number of woodpeckers.

They've apparently decided we're friends because they calmly hack away at the suet even when we're sitting within feet and even when I'm picking away at the type writer. I think they have concluded a type writer is just another rather oddly shaped member of their family.

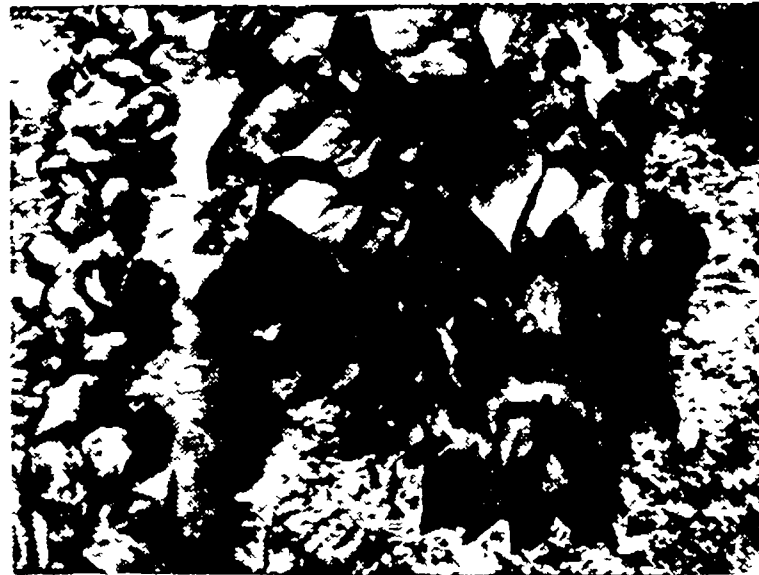

Prevent Insect, Rodent Damage to Stored Grain

The loss from insects in grain stored on farms in Pennsylvania averages 5 to 10 percent each year, on the basis of reliable estimates. County Agent R. G. Waltz says another 5 percent is destroyed or contaminated by rodents. This loss, he points out, can be prevented. Very little grain is infested in the field.

Newly stored grain usually becomes infested because insects are present in the bins or in the building containing the granary.

To prevent or reduce insect damage, Mr. Waltz explains it is important to clean the granary and then to spray it before the new grain is stored.

The National Geographic Society says the Fish House in London is the world's oldest aquarium.

Bean plants shown are mulched and lettuce has been cultivated. Both methods keep weeds down, but mulch preserves moisture better.

Gardeners Debate Mulch Versus Hoe

Old time gardeners taught that sprouted soil you know where the deeper the soil was stirred in, the better it was for them, especially after every rain. The plants, many moderns take and no weed will grow in your garden exactly the opposite view and save. Easy strokes of the hoe will turn up the white sprouts of weed seed before they have reached the surface.

It is difficult to persuade an experienced gardener that his seedlings will have to pull up weeds, and this is usually done when the rows are thinned out.

After plants have passed the seedling stage, and thinning out is completed, cultivation can be avoided by covering the soil with a mulch. Many materials have been used for this cover, including boards, stones, asphalted paper, newspaper, lawn clippings, straw, leaves, ground up corn cobs and sawdust.

It also breaks the crust on the soil surface, and allows both air and water to enter. But there is no need to stir the soil deeper than an inch for these purposes.

The muscular effort required to cultivate to this depth is no greater than sweeping the floor and even less if the hoe blade is kept sharp and used as a cutting instrument to shave the soil surface.

Use Prompt Surgery To Halt Tree 'Suicide'

Some trees are their own hangmen. They strangle themselves with their own roots.

Many street trees as well as fine landscape specimens commit suicide every year. Tree owners often are unaware of the tragedies slowly taking place.

These arboreal deaths can be averted if surgery is given in time according to W. Haynes, field representative of a Tree Expert company.

Harkness is noticeably common among Norway maples. But red maples, sugar maples, elms, oaks, horsechestnuts, planetrees and many others may die by their own hand, or rather, roots, too.

Unfortunately tree lovers do not spot abnormalities because frequently the girdling or strangling roots are out of sight below the ground surface.

THE STRANGLING roots wrap themselves around the trunk or other roots and exert gradually increasing pressure as they grow in diameter. The victim finally expires if circulation is greatly impeded or stopped entirely.

A new variety of pearl millet, developed by Glenn W. Burton of the Coastal Plain Experiment Station, Tifton, Georgia, is easier to manage and will last longer than the common variety of the south.

Preliminary tests indicate that this leafy variety of pearl millet is one of the best of all summer temporary grazing crops for dairy cattle, beef cattle, and hogs over the south.

State College Ram Wins Show Honors

HARRISBURG July 10 (AP) — A Hampshire ram owned by Pennsylvania State College today won best ram honors at the fifth annual Keystone stud ram show and sale.

The yearling ram, one of 385 head of sheep of eight breeds exhibited was fitted and shown by Carroll Shaffner, Penn State shepherd.

Glenn McCall, Rushsylvania, Ohio, judged the entries. The sale will be held tomorrow at the State farm show arena.

Ben Hogan Captures British Open

SHOOTS LAST ROUND 68 FOR RECORD SCORE

CARNOUSTIE, England, July 10.—Ben Hogan, golf's living legend, won the British Open championship on his first try today, shooting a record 68 on the last round for a 72-hole score of 282. He had rounds of 73-71-70-68—282 for the second lowest score in the tournament's history.

The wily Texan staged a spectacular finish for 20,000 golf-loving Scots, following the script which has marked his many American triumphs.

His last round 68 broke the

Ben Tells Scots He May Return To British Open

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, July 10.—Ben Hogan told a cheering crowd he hoped he could come back next year to compete again in the British Open Golf championship he won today.

He appeared for the trophy presentation with his wife, Valerie.

"Again I want to thank all of you for your very courtesy and consideration you have shown to Valerie and me while we have been here," he said.

"We have met a great many charming and wonderful people. Again, let me thank all of you. I don't know when I'll be back, but I hope I can make it next year."

With him was Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, who was low amateur in the tourney.

The crowd cheered both Hogan and Stranahan.

"I want to personally congratulate Ben Hogan," Stranahan said, introducing him. "I think it was fine he came here and showed what a great competitor he is."

MRS. HOGAN said earlier she thought Ben was coming down south the flu, and insisted his coat be brought before he went out for the presentation.

"I wish I could get flu like Ben and shoot 68," said Dai Rees of Britain with a grin.

Bobby Locke, defending champion, was told how Hogan shot his incoming nine.

"It's uncanny," he said. "I can't be done," he laughed.

Asked if he preferred the larger American ball to the smaller British one, Hogan said:

"I'll take the British ball any time, on the greens or on the fairway. I wish the Americans had never switched over."

VALERIE HOGAN MISSES BEN'S GREAT FINISH

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, July 10.—As Ben Hogan made his final drive in the British Open, today, a petite blue-eyed brunette took her place well behind the mass of spectators ringing the green.

Valerie, the wife of the great golfer, was too nervous to watch from the starter enclosure where newsmen and other competitors had gathered.

She did not witness her husband's great victory. As each shot was played, she asked how it went. Her four feet six inches kept her from seeing over the heads of the spectators. She said:

"I always come out when Ben is due in, but I just can't bear to really watch."

When Ben is on the course, Valerie kills time in their hotel room by knitting the many socks a professional golfer requires.

After Ben's triumph, Valerie's first thoughts were about his health rather than his new glory.

"I'M WORRIED about him," she said. "He played with a heavy cold the last few days and has picked up a mild influenza germ."

Before Hogan walked out to receive the cup, she insisted that his coat be brought to him.

Valerie was obviously concerned about the fatigue that showed on Hogan's face when he finished his success.

They Want the "Old" Man

Red Sox, One and All, Would Welcome Back Ted Williams

BOSTON, July 10.—The Boston Red Sox hung out the welcome sign for Ted Williams today as they expressed hope almost to a man that the big slugger will be able to return to the lineup before the end of the season.

"Absolutely, we want him back," declared Manager Lou Boudreau. "What a shot in the arm he would be for this ball club."

The 35-year-old Williams, a Marine flier who returned to the U. S. from Korea last night, said at Moffett Field, Calif., that possibly the Red Sox might not want an "old man" on the roster.

But today the Red Sox, from Boudreau down to trainer Jack Fadden, laughed off the statement and said the veteran of 38 combat missions against the Reds will be welcome as soon as he can doff his Marine captain's bars and put on a baseball uniform.

"Gee, if Williams doesn't know we want him back, there's something the matter," said catcher Sammy White.

"WOW, he could lose a little and still be a real good hitter," de-

Piersall's Walk Wins, After His Homer Ties

BOSTON, July 10.—Right-hander Marion Fricano walked Jim Piersall with two out and the bases loaded in the 12th inning tonight to force in Dick Gernert with the run that gave the Boston Red Sox a 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Piersall tied up the game with a ninth-inning homer.

Fricano, who went the distance, lost his control in the 12th, when he opened by walking Gene Stephens. Gernert followed with a single and, after George Kell sacrificed, Sammy White was purposely passed to load the bases.

Indians Split With White Sox; Feller Wins 10-Inning Opener

CHICAGO, July 10.—The Chicago White Sox uncorked a 10-run seventh inning to drop the Cleveland Indians, 16-3, after which reached its crescendo in the 10-run Sox seventh featuring a three-run homer by Minnie Miñoso.

The split left the White Sox five and one-half games behind the league-leading New York Yankees, who won today from Washington, 6-1. The Tribe remained in third, a half-game behind the Sox.

The opener was a tidy pitching duel between Cleveland's Bobby Feller and Chicago's Billy Pierce, which went scoreless until the 10th when singles by Al Rosen and

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—The Philadelphia Phillies and the Pittsburgh Pirates committed 19 errors tonight but the Phillies found Pirate hurling for 13 hits and a 13-3 win.

The Phillies were the worst of fenders in the bobbing department with six errors. Usually steady defensive men like Richie Ashburn and Eddie Matusz came up with two errors each and rookie Shortstop Ted Kazanski committed the other two.

Kiner's 14th Homer Helps Cubs Beat Redlegs, 6-0, 4-3

CINCINNATI, July 10.—Ralph Kiner's 19th homer with two aboard in the fifth boosted the Chicago Cubs to a 4-3 triumph over Cincinnati tonight, enabling them to divide a twilight-night double-header after old Ken Raffensberger whitewashed them, 6-0, in the opener.

Raff's shutout was the 31st of his career. The only other active pitcher in the National League to achieve as many as 43-year-old Duke Leonard of the Cubs.

Kiner's blow followed a double by Frankie Baumholtz and a walk to Dee Fondy to put Chicago into a 4-1 lead. Baumholtz's hit had scored Roy Smalley, who had singled and gone to second on a sacrifice.

Maglie Allows 6 Hits As Giants Win 6-1

BROOKLYN, July 10.—The New York Giants ran their winning streak to seven games by whipping their deadly Dodger rivals in Brooklyn, 6-1, tonight behind the steady six-hit pitching of Sal Maglie.

The contest, first of a three-game series, drew a standing-room crowd of 32,889, largest in two years at Ebbets Field.

The only run off Maglie, the pitcher Brooklyn Manager Charlie Dressen insists is "washed up," was Roy Campanella's 22nd home run of the season in the second inning.

The blow extended Brooklyn's home run hitting streak to 24 games, one short of the major league record.

Caddie of Greats Calls Hogan Best

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, July 10.—Bobby Jones' old British caddie thought hard for a moment tonight and then said:

"Ben Hogan is the greatest golfer the world has ever seen."

Jack Allen, 52-year-old caddie who carried most of the greats in the game, pronounced his verdict after watching Hogan's brilliant play down the last four holes.

Allen, a Londoner, has the crow's feet eyes of a man who has spent just 40 years staring down fairways.

He said Hogan was "almost too perfect—like a machine."

Allen did not arrive at his judgment easily. It was obvious that he also had a great fondness in his heart for the other wonderful golfers for whom he has caddied.

"I not only carried for Jones," he said, "I also carried for Walter Hagen, Macdonald Smith, and was personal caddie to the Duke of Windsor when he was Prince of Wales."

"I've seen almost all of the great ones in my time. I have formed the impression that Hogan is the greatest ever. While Jones and Hagen were golfers—this Ben Hogan is a golfing machine."

TODAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

ANYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's for the two O's etc. Since letters abbreviations the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
